

Kingfisher Class Newsletter (23rd February 2024)

Dear parents/carers,

We've had a really productive week In Kingfisher Class. In Maths, we've begun a new unit of work on money. In these days of card and phone payments, cash is no longer king but we've still got to learn how to count and use it! There are lots of fun games to practise new skills on Topmarks. Use this QR code ...

In English, we've been learning about the features of non-fiction texts and also about Giant Pandas ahead of some fact-file writing we'll be doing next week. In RE, we finished our work on Islam with some reflections around our core learning this term and begun this half-term's unit on Christianity by looking at churches and places that we feel special. We've also worked on Resilience in PSHE and completed our Book Oscar nominations ahead of World Book Day on Thursday 7th March (advance notice of Book theme fancy dress OR Dress to impress!).

Spellings: - Next week's is List 19...

Reading:

As ever thanks to those reading regularly at home. You are making the biggest difference to your child's progress and attainment.

Reflex Maths:

Congratulations to Alexander on becoming the latest Kingfisher to achieve 100% fluency on Reflex Maths. Well done!

Once again, have a lovely weekend one and all!
